

NextEra Energy Transmission New York, Inc.
Transmission Function Employee
Titles and Job Descriptions¹
18 C.F.R. § 358.7 (f) (1)
12/08/2021

Transmission System Operations

System Operator

- Responsible for the operations of transmission equipment and interfacing with other transmission operating entities, transmission field personnel, and NYISO.
- Responsible to direct and implement real-time actions to ensure the stable and reliable operation of the NextEra Energy Transmission New York (NEETNY) transmission system.
- Responsible for complying with NERC and NYISO reliability standards, protocols and operating guides.
- Monitors and controls the reliable transfer of power on NEETNY's transmission facilities and supervises all activities within the transmission control center.

Manager Operations

- Ensures compliance with all safety, environmental and regulatory requirements.
- Evaluates and improves the execution of critical operation and maintenance processes.
- Provides oversight and leadership in the development and implementation of standardized work practices and cost-effective execution program.
- Coordinates and interfaces with regulatory agencies and interconnected entity operations organizations.
- Oversees implementation of transmission benchmarking efforts.
- Drives and fosters strategy for condition assessments.
- Drives the implementation of quality concepts and the use of six sigma process improvement.

Senior Engineer

- Provides engineering, design, technical services and environmental support.
- Performs protective relay calculations, fault studies and coordination of interconnections
- Tracks and reports on project negotiations and performance.
- Delivers company standards, policies, training, and support of organization.
- Prepares communications, presentations and provides support at meetings.
- Formulates researches and develops improvement measures.
- Works with other departments within the organization to establish customer requirements and project costs.

¹ This posting is indicative of transmission function employee titles and job descriptions, which change from time to time. This posting will be updated as appropriate.

- Serves as Protect and Control Support for field operations confirm and updating relay settings
- Supports in monitoring and operating the transmission system to maintain reliability and meet demand requirements which includes forecasting demands and completing power flow studies.
- Provide technical assistance to field operations leader and technicians on design and commissioning.
- Responsible for all compliance-related activities associated with NEETNY including, but not limited to, NERC Standard Requirements, NYISO Protocols, NYISO Guidelines, and other compliance-related tasks as assigned.
- Support related tasks associated with other regions within North America in conjunction with NextEra Energy Transmission as assigned.
- Work directly with the NYISO and serve as a backup operator when needed.